IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

THE outlook for a fine crop of weddings this fall is reported first-class by the preachers, the milliners and dressmakers, who keep an eye on such things. There are several very interesting cases of nest building in progress on the side streets and the demand for creamy silks, satins and laces is heavy. Young men who never before were interested have been quizzing their married friends on real estate prices, rents, cost of living, etc., in a way that cannot be mistaken. With these facts in view it will be well to save up all the old shoes for these young people are shy and no telling where the first cards will come from.

One of the earliest of the fall weddings, almost a summer wedding, was the marriage on Tuesday last of Miss Annabelle Grogan, sister of Mrs. John P. Dolan, to William Kline, the well known contractor. Rev. Father Alloys performed the ceremony at St. Paul's church at 7 o'clock. The bride couple were accompanied by P. Farrell as best man and Miss Nellie Daly as bridesmaid. The bride was handsomely attired in a dress of steel color, with white silk trimmings, and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid also was becomingly dressed and wore pink carnations. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to a few intimate friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dolan on West Third street. Mr. and Mrs. Kline are now enjoying a honeymoon at Salt Lake and when they return will reside on upper Maple street.

A pleasant picnic was that of last Sunday, in which a number of Scotland's brave lads and lassies participated. They drove up Mill creek canyon in one of Tom Fleming's carryalls and spent the day in happy fashion. Bagpipes were played merrily and the Highland Fling was danced on the green. They sang the songs of Bobby Burns and one might have thought by all around that a gen of their native land had been transplanted here among the Rocky Mountains. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. James Hutton, Mrs. Nevin, Miss Jessie Rothley, Miss Josie Coots, Miss Janet Brenner, Miss McMillan, Messrs. Smith and Murray of Butte, D. Nevin, Ness and Tom Strachan.

Friday evening a company of the young folks of the city had a most merry evening at the Anaconda park. Dinner was spread under the trees and in a pretty woodland nook by the ladies of the party, and the gentlemen brought good appetites to the feast. While the shadows lengthened and the twilight fell those whose mood was sentimental rowed upon the placid lake or strolled in the paths by the brook. Then as darkness came all gathered in the dance hall, where they tripped to soothing strains the mazy waltz or threaded through the stately quadrille. Those present were: Messdames A. C. MacCallum, Tuttle, Mitchell, Neigle, L. St. Jean, Davidson, Green, Scoville, Madden and Gray; Misses Harrington, Gogarty, Dora Surprenant, Taylor, Canovan, St. Cyr, Wright, FitzPatrick and O'Donnell; Messrs. B. J. Corneliuss, L. St. Jean, J. E. St. Jean, J. E. Shields, Dr. Garton, Leo LaSalle, A. C. MacCallum, Charles MacCallum, Givings, A. Cloutier, Haines, Wright, Neigle, Wright, Green, Golden, Frank Berry, Davidson, Scoville and Gray.

IN BUTTE.

A unique feature of Butte's social life was the exceedingly pleasurable party given on Wednesday evening by Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Hammond. A large number of friends were present. The feature which proved so novel and so entertaining was the editing of a newspaper. The paper was divided into various departments, and each department assigned to a different group of ladies and gentlemen to edit. The results were then read to the assembled company and afforded unbounded amusement. Among the departments assigned were the political, advertising, foreign news, society, dramatic, sporting, boys', girls', poetry, household, etc. Perhaps the best article of all was the salutatory which was the undivided contribution of Mr. Bacon. Another very entertaining department was that of poetry, which included three exquisite poems by Miss Hasbrouck. Among the best departments were those of foreign correspondence and housekeeping. The evening wound up merrily with dancing, music and recitations.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Calkins, Mrs. Eda Hill, Mrs. Thomas Lavelle; Misses Bowie, Kooser, Hasbrouck, Black, Shaw, Busch, Strasberger, Crowe, Plouts, Warren, Palmer, Sargent; Messrs. IN PHILIPSBURG.

Philipsburg, Aug. 15.—August, as is usually the case, is not a month that gives birth to many social events, aside from picnics, and very few picnics have been chronicled during the past summer. Whether the young men are waiting on the young ladies, inasmuch as it is leap year, or just what is the matter, there are certainly very few picnics. A few "stag" fishing parties have been enjoyed by the sterner sex and the young ladies and older ladies each have enjoyed a day's outing, but aside from this, quietude reigns supreme. If September hasn't brighter promises, or to tempt ye society "god" with the social life will sink into deep oblivion and the political "god" will be in power.

The school house is receiving a coat of paint, which greatly adds to the beauty of the building. Soon the hall doors will be thrown open and the halls will ring with the voices of the many happy school children, all of whom will have enjoyed a pleasant vacation, and be ready to take up their studies with willing hearts and active brains.

Invitations are out for a birthday party to be given by Winfield L. Brown, Jr., on Friday, Aug. 14, from 3 until 6. The younger generation have enjoyed the celebrations of birthday parties quite frequently of late and will no doubt have a gala day helping their playfellow celebrate his 32d birthday.

Dame Rumor has it circulating that a prominent business man will take a wife sometime during this week. All society is waiting in breathless suspense for this event to take place.

All the games so dear to childhood's happy days were indulged in and enjoyed by the little lads and maidens assembled there, and toward the end of the afternoon the little folks enjoyed refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake and candy and nuts. All went home laughing and chatting about the fun they had and the good things to eat, while Master Hugh enjoyed gazing on the many and beautiful little remembrances brought to him by his little friends.
